MARY CULLEN IS ENJOYING LIFE FREE FROM RESPONSIBILITY IN HER APARTMENT AT BRAMSHOTT PLACE VILLAGE

After 37 and a half years in her previous home, a bungalow in a hamlet near Liphook, Hants, Mary Cullen didn't really want to move. But, as is often the case as the years go on, familiar and beloved homes and gardens start to take their toll in terms of the sheer effort involved in keeping them looking good. There's also the security angle. When someone is widowed, as Mary was 11 years ago, they may start to feel a little vulnerable living alone, perhaps a long way from neighbours and essential services.

Mary Cullen began to feel all of these things, and told herself at the time: "I don't want to move, but I really ought to." However, a year later she finds herself the contented owner of a ground floor two bedroom apartment at Bramshott Place Village, in Liphook, which she shares with her cat. "I really do like it, I have no responsibilities," she enthuses. "People here are so nice, everyone knows each other and stops to say hello." She has got to know the people in her apartment building particularly well, and comments that having other people around is something that she finds a great comfort. "I feel safer in an apartment and find my new neighbours very supportive. I had a car accident recently which necessitated buying a new vehicle, and luckily only my pride was hurt, but everyone here was very kind."

The thriving social scene at Bramshott Place Village, focused on the luxurious Clubhouse and new restaurant, Stirling's, also appeals to Mary. She goes to Clubhouse events and has started having Sunday lunch at Stirling's, and says that it is, "very good, and very good value." She joins in the Tuesday coffee mornings and also supports the Monday yoga classes when she can.

The Bramshott Village staff are there to make life easier for residents, and Mary certainly has positive experience of this. She says of the office staff, headed by Village Manager Sue Lapicki, "They're very helpful. They are always there to help sort things out."

People over 55 enjoy a wealth of amenities at Bramshott Place Village. As well as Stirling's restaurant, the luxurious Clubhouse includes a bar, leisure suite with pool, library, elegant lounge, guest suite and games room. Other elements which make the Bramshott Place Village lifestyle so attractive include a convenience shop, a resident nurse, domestic cleaning and laundry service and the beautifully maintained landscape grounds.

Homes at Bramshott Place Village consist of luxury cottages and apartments set in acres of parkland. It's a way of life that appeals to older, yet active and independent people who want to get the most out of their retirement years with a little extra security added.

There are currently a limited number of two bedroom apartments available and fantastic spacious two bedroom apartments which feature a third room which can be used as a bedroom or study, plus separate living/dining room.
